

Pavement Swing Gate

Pavement swing gates are designed to be in sympathy with the architecture of the surrounding environment with clean and simple details, and no visible fixings or sharp edges.

When used in sites of special architectural interest, prior consent is required before installation.

This is a preferred corporate solution, but variation within TfL guidelines is permitted depending on environmental issues.